Strategic Plan

Who we are

The Australian Dental Association is the leading voice for dentists in Australia, a member-driven organisation actively working to further the profession of dentistry, to equip and support those who work in it and to improve the oral and general health of all Australians.

To achieve this, we are committed to acting as the strongest possible advocate for the dental profession, playing an integral role in finding and promoting solutions to issues that affect the work of dentists and the oral health of Australians. This advocacy role is bolstered by a commitment to developing and promoting quality standards and ensuring that members and other stakeholders are empowered to realise their full professional potential.

We work closely with government and other stakeholders to set oral health policy for the future, and with dentists and other dental professionals to disseminate positive oral health messages to the community at large, helping Australians appreciate the benefits of good oral health and its importance for their overall wellbeing.

Our purpose is to have the best dentists in the world in a nation with the best oral health.
